

Tom Powers

Currently serves as President & CEO of StrataDefense, a cybersecurity firm headquartered in Wausau, WI focused solely on securing financial networks. With more than 24 years in the technology arena, 20+ years in the financial and healthcare industries, and several technology industry certifications Tom has developed a passion for developing solutions to protect the critical networks that StrataDefense serves. He has a passion for securing his client networks, driving penetration testers insane, pina coladas, and getting caught in the rain.
